Humans, it is said, are talking to animals. This is one way of saying that man is a social animal, possessing the faculty of speech. Conversation is an important part of our social life. It is indeed an activity that characterizes all mankind.

Have you ever wondered what it is that makes you a good conversationalist?

Men and women everywhere spend a large part of their time in making conversation. Some kinds of conversation seem to have no special purpose. "Nice weather", says a man as he passes you on street. "Oh, you are back. Nice to see you again", says another. Such conversations aim at breaking silence and

It hardly needs saying that you must have something to say. This is possible only if you are yourself interested in people and event. You must be wellinformed. Reading books and magazines is not so important to equip yourself with useful information. Your own experiences in life are important too, since they provide a store of material for your conversation. The information and the experiences must become a part of you. Health has never been a bigger concern than it is now. People are not eating in proportion to their lifestyle today. Read the following passage and supply the required information in the table given below: The present-day scenario of the Primary School Education is very bleak. It's time to think beyond the enrolment numbers. Over 3 lakhs children in the age group of 6 to 11 don't go to school at all. Every year there is an enrolment campaign but there is no effective policy for retaining the students. In one year MCD registered a record-breaking enrolment figures 1.1 lakhs against the usual 20000 students. Introduction of English as a subject in MCD schools is the reason for this quantum jump.

A big problem being experienced is retention of the children. Mid-day meal meant to be a major incentive for retaining children in the primary schools is still not very effective. The importance of mid-day meal in retaining

So, if the kind of food one eats or the diet one follows is important, so is ones lifestyle. A labourer may eat three times what an executive does, but doesn't develop the latter's paunch. Meanwhile the weight-conscious executive doesn't realize that the extra cup of tea he has everyday or a handful of potato chips add one kilo to his weight in two months. The tea or chips contain 150 calories; in two months that works out to be around 8000 calories.
